DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The Applicants' amendment, filed 25 July 2006, has been received, entered into the record, and considered.
2. As a result of the amendment, claims 15, 16 and 18 have been amended, and claims 12 and 13 have been canceled. Claims 1-11 and 21-26 have been previously canceled. Claims 14-20 remain pending in the application.

The Invention

3. The claimed invention is a system for allowing a user to prepare a parts check list.

Priority

4. The Applicants' claim to foreign priority under 35 U.S.C. § 119 to Japanese Patent Applications JP 2000-132386, filed 1 May 2000, JP 2000-143486, filed 16 May 2000, JP 2000-200849, filed 7 July 2000, and JP 2000-209874, filed 11 July 2000, is acknowledged. The priority papers filed under 35 U.S.C. § 119(a)-(d) supporting the Applicants' claim to foreign priority have been received and entered into the record.

5. The subject matter of the elected claims (12-20) corresponds only to Japanese Patent Application JP 2000-132386. As such, the priority date established for this application is 1 May 2000.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Costello et al. (U.S. Patent Application Publication 2002/0007225).

8. Regarding claim 19, Costello et al. teaches a parts check list preparing system as claimed, comprising the steps of:

- a) in addition to fetching the graphics data of a part necessary for preparing a parts checklist that shows parts information in a tabular form from a database comprising the graphics data of parts and the parts data thereof, causing a display device to present a layout based on said graphics data on display (see disclosure that the technical documents, including parts catalogs, are retrieved, paragraphs [0069]-[0076], and particularly paragraph [0076]; see also disclosure of the display of graphical reproductions of parts and assemblies, paragraph [0090] and Figure 10);
- b) after selecting the part in the layout on display, fetching the parts data corresponding with the graphics data of the selected part from the database (see disclosure of selection of parts through visual navigation of the schematic diagrams, paragraph [0046]);
- c) arranging the acquired parts data into a list and causing the display device to present the list together with the layout (see disclosure that detailed replacement part data is retrieved based upon selection of specific parts in schematic diagrams, paragraph [0012]; see also disclosure of the parts ordering module, paragraphs [0010], [0046] and [0061]);
- d) automatically preparing the parts check list based on the parts list (see disclosure of the parts ordering and parts tracking system, paragraphs [0028]; see also disclosure of the parts ordering module, paragraphs [0010], [0046] and [0061]); and

e) ordering the parts by transmitting the prepared parts check list based on the parts list (see disclosure that the parts requisition center 22 and the service shop 16 may be linked via a global network, such as the Internet and the World Wide Web, paragraph [0026]; see also disclosure that the system provides parts ordering and parts tracking via communications with the parts requisition center 22, paragraph [0028]).

9. Regarding claim 20, Costello et al. additionally teaches a parts check list preparing system embodied in a computer program in a computer-readable storage medium (see paragraph [0002]).

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claims 14-18 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

11. Applicant's arguments filed 25 July 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

12. Regarding the Applicants' argument that the Costello et al. reference fails to teach the limitation of 'ordering the part by transmitting the prepared checklist based on the parts list', the examiner respectfully disagrees.

The first sentence of paragraph [0046] discloses that the parts ordering module is available to the technician via the portable unit. The last sentence of paragraph [0046] discloses that the parts ordering module can be used to mark a part for delivery to the service yard (clearly a parts list). The first sentence of paragraph [0061] discloses that when a new part is needed, the portable unit communicates with the service shop to requisition the part.

These three disclosures, taken together, clearly anticipate the claimed limitation that the part is ordered by transmitting the prepared checklist based on the parts list.

The rejection of record is maintained.

Conclusion

13. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
